

Reading Around 2 Writing About

Jangles
PUBLICATIONS

Sandy Heldsinger and Jan Brandreth

Persuasive Task: Why is it important to help someone else?

Why is it important to help someone else?

Read The Big Help again.

You are going to write a text to persuade your reader that it is important to help someone else.

Plan your writing:

Who can you help? _____

Now think about how you can help that person.

Things you can do	How this would help the person
1
2
3

Now, write your opening statement.

I think it is important to help _____ because _____

Now write a sentence or two about each thing you can do to help and how this would help the person.

It is important to write a sentence to finish your writing.

These are the reasons I like to help because

Student Name: _____ Date: _____

Skills demonstrated:

Textual features (Persuasive Writing)

- ☐ Provides appropriate opening statement
- ☐ Provides brief elaboration of ideas
- ☐ Provides summing up statement

Conventions (Sentence Structure)

- ☐ Uses simple sentences
- ☐ Uses some compound sentences
- ☐ Uses some basic complex sentences

Jangles Publications is a specialist children's educational publishing house established in 2004. Jangles is the creation of Jan Brandreth and Sandy Heldsinger, two educationalists passionate about creating a better understanding of student assessment and literacy outcomes. Jangles is a direct response to the needs of students and teachers in this area. Series of books have been created to cover reading and writing, grammar and handwriting. The reading and writing, and the grammar series focuses on Year 2 to Year 7. The Handwriting series focuses on Pre-Primary to Year 4.

For other Jangles publications visit: www.janglespublications.com.au